

Attention: Human Resources Department.

To: Whom It May Concern,

Could you benefit from increased mental acuity, higher productivity, less accidents and decreased absenteeism in your work place?

People are generally happier and able to maximize their contribution when they are optimally nourished. Seeking the assistance of a Registered Nutritional Consulting Practitioner (RNCP) can help your employees to be at their best! Healthier employees...mean healthier profits!

Advocating wellness and proper nutrition in the work place saves your company money. Thus, encouraging your staff to achieve optimal health through proper nutritional education, provided by an RNCP, is a step towards increasing your bottom line.

I am an RNCP and a professional trained in holistic nutrition and complementary therapies. I will educate your staff about the benefits of a sound nutritional program, healthy lifestyle changes, and personalized supplement programs. At Wellness Wizards, we strive to make our presentations fun, interactive and informative. We can provide you with a list of topics to choose from, or – we will be happy to design a session unique to your employees' areas of interest. Please enquire for more information, or consult our general brochure.

The RNCP title is exclusive to the International Organization of Nutritional Consultants (IONC), which signifies our credibility as nutritional consultants. The IONC is an independent, not-for-profit organization established in 1983 to assure the public that all RNCPs meet high ethical and educational standards.

Did you know that your extended health care plan could encompass our services upon request from you to your broker? This is an employee benefit that would signify your corporate interest in the wellness of your staff and would provide dividends! Most employers do not realize that their group plans already include the services of RNCPs, thus, review your policy carefully and approach your plan administrator or broker for more information.

I would like to follow-up with you and arrange a meeting to discuss ways that we can work together. Please contact our office to schedule an appointment.

Yours in good health,

Irene Swedak, B.Sc., R.H.N., R.N.C.P.

Wellness Wizards Limited.